- 3. On 3 January, the chief of depot III announced that a branch would be established at the summer carp in Lieberose by 15 Earch. Contracts for the supply of about 1,000 soldiers in Fuerstenwalde which was to begin in January 1953 were concluded with the bakery and dairy in Lieberose.
- 4. Prior to 7 January, the barracks installation on Braunsdorfer Strasse was occupied by an estimated 1,200 soldiers wearing red-bordered black epaulets with artillery, motor transport, tank and signal insignia. Between 11:15 a.m. and noon on 26 December, about 50 to 60 soldiers were seen entrenching in the training area northwest of the installation. At 11 a.m. on 28 December, soldiers were seen engaged in athletic activities in the barracks yard while most of the soldiers were in the barracks buildings. Between 3 p.m. and 3:30 p.m. on 31 December, about 60 soldiers were seen engaged in firing carbines and pistols with live ammunition at the firing range north of the installation while other soldiers drilled in the barracks yard. At 2 p.m. on 5 January, 130 to 200 soldiers marched to the training area northwest of the installation and practiced aiming and attack.
- 5. At 1 p.m. on 1 January, 12 motor vehicles carrying engineer equipment and personnel left the Pionier Kaserne toward Langewahl. A short time later they were followed by 2 trucks with pontoons and 4 trucks with bridge building equipment, The unit did not return until 7 January.
- 6. Prior to 7 January, the barracks installation on the road to Nauen was still occupied by 300 to 400 soldiers wearing red-bordered black epaulets, mostly with motor transport insignia. At 4:30 p.m. on 6 January, a column of 25 driving school trucks proceeded toward the town. Each truck was occupied by 6 to 8 soldiers. No other training activity was noticed in the barracks installation.

Exercise in addition to units from Fuerstenwalde.

Comment. The information indicates no changes in the occupation of the installations mentioned compared with the last report except for the units which departed in early January 1953.

It is believed that, on 1 January, elements of the 122d (?) dds Engr En of the 7th Gds Mecz Div and, on 3 January, elements of the 24th Cds Mecz Regt of the division had left. The field howitzers observed with these troops cannot be accounted for, as the unidentified guards howitzer artillery regiment of the division is carried in Frankfurt/Oder. Paragraphs 3 and 7 of the present report indicate that these units moved to the Lieberose troop training grounds, probably for practices.

As in 1952, short-term practices were thus observed to be troop training grounds in East Germany. The entrainment in 15 January of engineers may probably be because of advectoriations. The engineer battalion did not take up quarter troop training grounds, but rather in the barracks install upon completion of the exercise on 15 January, possibly reto Fuerstenwalds.	n Beeskow erse weather rs at the lation and
